BA (HONORS) BUSINESS ECONOMICS

Duration: 3 Years, full time Honors Programs

Why should students study economics?

The courses of economics cover multidimensional social aspects of life involving national interest to uplift social status of all classes of people of the country by proper planning of resource allocations in financial budget.

With global economics rarely out of the news, this challenging and rewarding degree provides a thorough grounding in the range of skills required by the modern economist. Through studying a mix of theoretical and applied modules, you will be trained to think like an economist and to apply rigorous, tried, and tested techniques that give insight and guidance to government and business.

What can you do with an Economics Degree?

Economics is considered as an ever green subject due to its high utility and huge demand in the job markets. Economics is a very important discipline both for career as well as job point of view. The significance of economics has greatly increased post reforms era. Job opportunities have increased manifolds post Liberalisation, Privatisation and Globalisation (LPG), and after merging of world economy, well-trained economists are in huge demand not only in India but also across the world for rapidly globalising economic scenario. They are hired as economic analysts, researchers and consultants.

Being able to understand economics in a global context is an increasingly sought-after skill among businesses. With that in mind we've made our Economics degree exposes you to a broad set of economic specialism, while ensuring you have extensive knowledge of fundamental aspects including analytical skills, an understanding of economic systems and an appreciation of financial disciplines.

Possible employers include local and national government, public and private banks, insurance companies, large multinational companies, financial consultancies and accountancy firms.
